QUANTEGY ANNOUNCES DISCONTINUATION OF VARIOUS MAGNETIC TAPE PRODUCTS

Opelika, AL – January 22, 2007 : Today, Quantegy Recording Solutions officially announces the discontinuation of various magnetic tape product lines. Quantegy has been serving the professional video, audio, and instrumentation markets for over 60 years. Technology has made vast improvements in this time, and Quantegy is proud to have made major contributions during this period. Unfortunately, as technology improves, there is a decrease in demand for magnetic tape media. It is for this reason that Quantegy is now discontinuing certain magnetic tape products. Looking to the future, Quantegy will center its focus on research and development of new technology to better serve its primary markets. In recent years, Quantegy has achieved success with the FHD and Black Diamond family of hard drive storage solutions, and plans to continue with new technology while honoring the Quantegy tradition of superior quality and customer service.

The discontinuation process will begin immediately, and orders will be accepted through February 28, 2007. Quantegy would like to encourage all customers to evaluate current and future needs for magnetic tape products so that orders can be placed and production scheduled in a timely and efficient matter. Production is intended to continue and all order fulfillment completed by April 2007. To ensure timely delivery, Quantegy customers should place orders as soon as possible.
